1982 MEETING! It will be a biggie, and we have been asked to point out that Haskell Springer, the program chairman, will be hospitable to papers on all aspects of American culture. We mention this because there will be joint sessions with other organizations, some of which will stress music and/or the Midwest. Such topics are therefore very welcome, but most of the MASA panels will be devoted to other subjects.

Our sessions will run on Friday and Saturday, for a change—notice the sumptuous plans which result from our going halves with the musical organizations. Indeed, the musical offerings will be richer than shown in the announcement which follows, because in addition to the visiting chamber opera, there will be a resident grand opera staged the same weekend. And plans are to reinstitute certain other aspects of MASA conviviality which used to be traditional when we were a smaller organization.

Bunker Clark's announcement of the 1982 meeting:

The Sonneck Society, the Midcontinent American Studies Association and the Midwest Chapter of the American Musicological Society will meet at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, the first weekend of April 1982. In addition, members of the history special research interest group of the Music Educators National Conference will be attending. Along with the traditional and separate sessions of each organization is the possibility of one or more joint sessions devoted to topics of mutual interest. "The Midwest" will be only one of the focuses of the weekend. The main hotel is a Holidome, a convention center now under construction, which is scheduled for completion by the time of the meeting.

Virgil Thomson, a native of Kansas City, has accepted an invitation to be the honored guest. He celebrates his 85th birthday on 25 November 1981. There will be an evening of his music on Thursday, April 1.

On Friday evening, the University of Missouri-Kansas City Conservatory of Music will produce in Lawrence the hitherto-unperformed chamber opera Cabildo by Mrs. H.H.A. Beach. On Saturday evening there will be a festive banquet, including an entertaining performance of the 19th century melodrama The Drunkard by a local professional company which has been doing it for over twenty years. [MASA has yet another event on a related subject planned for later the same evening.]

Those with proposals for papers or presentations are encouraged to send them to one of the following program chairmen no later than the end of October 1981. If a topic might interest more than one organization, send the proposal to two of those listed below, for possible joint sessions. Complete papers are preferred, although abstracts are acceptable. Three copies should be sent to each program chairman.

Sonneck Society (meets Thursday-Sunday, April 1-4): Jean Geil, Music Library, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois 61801

Midcontinent American Studies Association (meets Friday-Saturday, April 2-3): Haskell Springer, English Department, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas 66045

American Musicological Society, Midwest Chapter (meets Saturday-Sunday, April 3-4): Lawrence Gushee, School of Music, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois 61801

In charge of local arrangements is J. Bunker Clark (Music History), for the Sonneck Society. Daniel T. Politoske (Music History) represents the Midwest AMS, and Stuart Levine (English) represents MASA.

AMERICAN STUDIES INTERNATIONAL now costs. Bernard Mergen writes to tell us that he would be happy to offer it to subscribers of American Studies at the special rate of $7.50 per year.

WARREN FRENCH is running another of those stellar and coherent programs of his. The topic this time is "Generations/The Family in American Life: A Dialogue with the Community." The dates are March 25-27, 1982. Proposals and inquiries go to French at the Center for American Studies, Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis, 925 West Michigan Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46202.

POWER, TRANSPORT AND PUBLIC POLICY in Modern America: such is the title of a symposium September 25-27, 1981 at Michigan Technological University. We hear about it from Mark Rose, formerly of our staff; for more information, contact Mark or George Daniels, c/o Social Sciences, M.T.U., Houghton, Michigan 49931. Phone: (906) 487-2113.

A NEW PRESS SERIES from Temple University is called "Technology and Urban Growth."

We heard of it, too, from Mark Rose, a member of its distinguished editorial board. Book manuscripts go to Kenneth Arnold, Editor, Temple University Press, Philadelphia 19122.

PEDAGOGICALLY ORIENTED interdisciplinary seminar was held May 27-June 3, 1981 at the Modern Media Institute, St. Petersburg, Florida, run by the Citizen News Project of Indiana University's Poynter Center. Robert Schmuhl of the Poynter Center can give details about what happened.

LOUIS ADAMIC was the subject of a May 28th-30th symposium in St. Paul, Minnesota. Information from Rudolph Vecoli, Immigration History Research Center, University of Minnesota, 826 Berry Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55114.

WILLA CATHER is examined in several dimensions at a week-long conference June 14-20 at Hastings College in Nebraska. The sponsors are the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Hastings and the Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial. AT THE NATIONAL American Studies Association meetings in Memphis (October 29-November 1), the Council of the national organization, concerned about communication in an era of change and crisis for the organization, asked MASA whether it would undertake to draw the chapters together in dialogue. MASA had its board present; it asked for clarification, then acted quickly to help. One result is that this column is to be made available as a forum. The airing of concerns (in brief items) begins whenever the several chapters see fit to formulate some. A phone call to Your Faithful Editor to discuss proposed items would be helpful. The phone is (913) 864-4878.

GRATITUDE is directed at those scholars who have helped us in recent months by giving our Editorial Board a hand. Usually they commented on articles which touched on areas in which our Board members are not expert. They are Forrest Berghorn, University of Kansas; Nancy Denny, University of Kansas; Alan Gribben, University of Texas-Austin; John Higham, Johns Hopkins University; Bernard Hirsch, University of Kansas; Frances Horowitz, University of Kansas; Bruce Kuklick, University of Pennsylvania; Seth Scheiner, Rutgers University; Elizabeth Schultz, University of Kansas; Robert Sears, Stanford University; Robert Shelton, University of Kansas; James Shortridge, University of Kansas; Haskell Springer, University of Kansas.

HISTORIANS OF PLANNING plan a rally with the historians at the OAH meetings, Friday, April 2, 1982. Details from Mark H. Rose, Department of Social Sciences, Michigan Technological University, Houghton, Michigan 49931, 906-487-2115; or William H. Wilson, Department of History, North Texas State University, Denton, Texas, (817) 788-2034.

COMPARATIVE CIVILIZATIONS will be studied through a rich variety of themes in late May (27-30), 1982 at Pittsburgh University. Comparative histories of childhood, comparative urban cultures, religion, humor, patriarchy—it all sounds very rich and attractive. T. Kaori Kitao, Art, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania 19081, has information.

EXPANDED INDEXING in the MLA International Bibliography is the goal of a project acronymed CIFT in which this journal participates. CIFT es decir Contextual Indexing and Faceted Taxonomic Access System. (Got that?) Details available from Eileen Mackesy, MLA, 62 Fifth Avenue, N.Y. 10011.

MONTREAL was where the Canadian Association for American Studies held its Seventeenth Annual. A rich and varied program on October 22-24, 1981 involved some American Studies regulars and some succulent-looking programs. The scale seemed cozy, too—not too many sessions.

INDIANA MONEY is available to those doing historical research concerning Indiana. Information from Gayle Thornbrough, Indiana Historical Society, 315 West Ohio Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46202.

COMMERCIAL ARCHEOLOGY is what the Society for CA Studies is about. It holds conferences and welcomes participation by nonmembers. Its address is c/o Museum of Transportation, 300 Congress Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02210.

A NEW M.A. program in American Studies at the College of William and Mary starts up in fall, 1982. Although the program involves Colonial Williamsburg, it is not limited to the colonial era. Fellowships and assistantships are available; information from Scott Donaldson, English, William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185.

HEMPSTEAD, NEW YORK is YFE's hometown, so he is happy to puff a conference there next November 4-7. The topic is twentieth-century women writers; a broad range of approaches is welcome; the deadline for papers is March 1, 1982, and the folks to write for details are Natalie Datlof and Alexey Ugrinsky, UCCIS, Hofstra University. Hofstra's zip is 11550; ND or AU can be reached at (516) 560-3296.

SEXIST DEADLINES make it impossible for us to run a call for papers for the special American Transcendental Quarterly issue on unrecognized women writers in nineteenth-century New England. The deadline was 1 December, 1981. But we can at least tell you of the project; you can learn more from Women's Issue ATQ, Department of English, University of Rhode Island, Kingston, Rhode Island, 02881.

INDUSTRIOUS WOMEN were studied in a conference so titled held in late September at the Hagley Museum, Wilmington, Delaware. The focus was on the Mid-Atlantic region in the early industrial period. Post-conference information from Box 3630, Wilmington, Delaware 19807.

SLAVE NARRATIVES: Essays in Literature proposes a volume of essays on literary approaches to Afro-American slave narratives.

The deadline is March 1, 1982; information comes from John Sekora, English, Western Illinois University, Macomb, Illinois 61455.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS in the spring of 1982 is where and when the Missouri Conference on History is planned. Information is available from Peter L. Viscusi, History, Central Missouri State University, Warrensburg, Missouri 64093. The conference runs April 16 and 17.

A GREAT PLAINS SYMPOSIUM is planned for March 18-20, 1982 by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Center for Great Plains Studies. Details from Frances W. Kaye, English, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 68588.

CRISIS AND CULTURE in Midwest cities was the subject of a conference of related events—walks, exhibitions, readings—run by the University of Toledo. Guy Szuberla, a contributor to this journal, was in charge, and could put you in touch with papers or people. He's in the English department there; the zip is 43606.
